

Raven RP62 Anti Finger Jam Seal - 2100mm - Black - Clear Anodised Aluminium

SKU RP62-2100CA

MPNA62C2100

DESCRIPTION

The Raven RP62 Anti-Finger Jam Seal is a dependable safety solution designed to prevent finger injuries on the hinge side of doors. Durable and easy to install, this seal is ideal for enhancing safety in high-traffic or child-safe environments.

Key Features:

Stylish Finish: Clear anodised aluminium (15-micron satin finish) with a sleek black seal, perfect for modern interiors.

Durable Construction: High-quality materials ensure long-lasting performance and an attractive appearance.

Secure Seal: Creates a protective barrier between the door and jamb to prevent finger injuries effectively.

Easy Installation: Pre-slotted fixing holes for precise alignment. Includes zinc-plated cross recess head screws and a cover strip for a clean, professional finish.

Customisable Length: Supplied in 2100mm lengths, with the option to butt-join multiple strips for longer doors or applications.

Recommended Use:

Designed for the door and jamb of butt-hinged or centre-pivot doors. To ensure maximum protection, fit the RP62 along the entire height of the door and jamb.

Enhance safety and functionality with the Raven RP62 Anti-Finger Jam Seal – an essential addition for homes, offices, and public spaces prioritising safety without sacrificing style.
